

PARTNER WITH US

Help create connection, comfort and community.

Mothers Coming Together is a Lower Chittering peer-support community for mothers living with the death of a child. We are creating a safe, compassionate place for connection, remembrance and meaningful activities.

You are seen. You are held. You are understood.

What partnership makes possible

01

Welcoming gatherings

Meeting, venue and hospitality costs that keep local peer support accessible.

02

Useful resources

Printed information, remembrance materials and practical support for members.

03

Meaningful activities

Creative and wellbeing workshops, community events and remembrance activities.

04

A sustainable future

The foundations for retreats and programs shaped by the mothers involved.

Why local support matters

The world continues after a child dies, but a parent's life has been permanently changed. A local peer community gives mothers a place where names can be spoken, important dates can be remembered and nobody is expected to make grief smaller for somebody else's comfort.

The group is led by mothers with lived experience. Shane's story is part of its beginning, but every mother and every child will be held with equal care.

We welcome financial sponsorship and practical in-kind support. Recognition can include social media acknowledgement, event or workshop recognition and inclusion on appropriate group materials.
